A Message from the President

Linda Sue Wever

On March 6th, we held a Congregational Meeting to address the future of TBT. About ½ of the member units were represented. The only item on the agenda was trying to fill Temple Board positions for the 2016-2017 year. The following Wednesday, we had our Monthly Board Meeting where the only items on the docket were to try and finalize a slate for the upcoming Board and to staff multiple committees. I want to thank everyone who attended and participated in either or both meetings. We were able to get a great deal accomplished. My goal was to involve more families in the day-to-day running of the Temple and to hand over the reins of the Temple to the next generation of congregants who can help see the way forward. I think we have accomplished both goals. Elections will take place at the Annual Meeting on Sunday, May 15th, immediately following Sunday school, so please make a note of it.

If you are still interested in being involved and volunteering for TBT, please know that there are still committees of one, or committees with just a couple of people, so we can certainly use you. Some committees that can use more people and participation are: Audio Visual, Community Outreach/External Events, Adult Education, Care Committee, and Marketing. Please let a current Board member know if you want to work with any of these committees and we'll point you in the right direction.

I am very excited about the upcoming year and am very thankful that we are able to put the Temple in good hands, and new hands, in the upcoming year. Thank you to all!

Here is the slate as it stands for elections:

2016-2017 Board Slate

President: Jayne Ayers

Vice President: Marci Jerome (Focus – Calendar)

Treasurer: Mike Erstling (Chair – Finance)

Recording Secretary: Debra Kabalkin (Focus/Chair – TBD)

Corresponding Secretary: Jen Harding (Chair – Community Outreach/External Events)

Member-at-Large: Jennifer Stawasz (Chair - Internal Events)

Member-at-Large: Cheri Kaplan (Chair - Membership/Mentoring and Voice Mail)

Member-at-Large: Mike Thomas (Chair - Logistics)

Religious School Chair: Stefani deGuzman

High Holiday & Ritual Committee Chair: Joel Wasserman

Past President: Linda Sue Wever

The following are Board positions, but are elected by their respective membership:

Sisterhood: Stacey Huse

Brotherhood: Bob Borsato

ANNUAL MEETING
SUNDAY, MAY 15TH
12:30 PM

ALL MEMBERS OF THE TBT COMMUNITY ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND.

A Message from the Rabbi

Kenneth Block

In order to enjoy a movie we need to suspend belief. In order to enjoy a work of fiction we need to suspend belief. In order to enjoy a TV show we need to suspend belief. There are a multitude of areas that require us to suspend belief in order to enjoy the activity. In all these experiences we realize that we are suspending beliefs and if we can't we acknowledge that we can't suspend belief and say "that was too unbelievable for me". In other words I can't stop my rational mind from doing what it is supposed to do, judging the information rationally.

In the realm of nonfiction we are all familiar with the expression "too good to be true" or "I like not fair terms and a villain's mind." (The Merchant of Venice) or "It is a tale...full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." (Macbeth) On occasion we all fall for the free lunch and then later pay the piper his due. Later we realize that the insurance quote, the price of the car, the vacation resort, was too good to be true. We learn a lesson and regroup. Fartig, maspeek, genug, enough, OK I fell for it and I've learned a lesson, if it sounds too good to be true then it is a lie! And if you have not learned this lesson see me I guarantee I can double your investment in 60 days!

We are presently in the midst of the election cycle for the nominees for the presidency. Every two years the American Public picks a favorite candidate and supports their candidate regardless of objective and scientific evidence that they are lying. It would be impossible to enjoy a work of fiction without suspending belief be it written or visual. But to leave the running of our government to individuals who require us to suspend disbelief in order to support them is a disgrace. One candidate for the GOP nomination for president claims that he can save $300 billion a year on a $78 billion program. No wonder he is a billionaire he can change lead into gold! Another candidate wants us to believe that he is protecting woman by limiting their access to healthcare!

But what disbeliefs we suspend in politics pales in comparison to our dealings with religion. We continue to suspend disbelief when it comes to religion and no amount of scientific or rational evidence can get us to question our beliefs. We call it faith. But does faith really mean suspension of disbelief? No, it doesn't. Faith requires proof and evidence and you decide how much is needed. Again, I find it fascinating that when it comes to religion most of us require little or no proof or evidence. And we justify this by saying that it is about faith as if faith is except from evidence.

If you would attend a NoshN'Drosh on a Saturday morning to discuss "Suspension of Disbelief & Religion" send an email to: RabbiBlock2@yahoo.com and I will email you back with the date.

Inviting all to attend our Cancer Survivor Shabbat Service Friday evening, April 8, 2016

Dear Chaverim (friends),

On Friday evening, April 8, Rabbi Block and I are conducting a Cancer Survivor Shabbat. WE PLAN TO GIVE ALL IN ATTENDANCE A DAFFODIL PLANT REPRESENTING NEW LIFE AND HOPE FOR RENEWAL. Our entire community is welcome and if you plan to attend please notify us by contacting joannevertz@yahoo.com or wendi@wedothellegwork.com of how many family members, friends and extended family will be present.

Below is a prayer by an individual Sara Chernoff and a prayer of gratefulness by Rabbi Elliott Perstein

I give thanks to You, God, for having given me the strength to bear pain and affliction. You have given me new spirit and hope.

Be with me during my days of convalescence. Help me to be cheerful and to bear with patience whatever discomforts I may have.

I pray that I may carry out the worthy resolutions which I made during my illness.

May I always value the blessing of health, and in gratitude help preserve the health and well-being of others.

How could I expect You to heal my body when I hadn't yet enabled You to heal my soul?

I had brief encounters with You while listening to the pure harmonies of Bach.

You overpowered me with the brilliance and drama of Kapell

playing Liszt's Mephisto Waltz

and Horowitz Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto.

Finally, when the ache became unendurable, I ventured out to meet You in other forms:

Study, attending worship services, performing mitzvot, participating in ritual.

What a joyful journey it is!

How excruciatingly difficult it sometimes can be!

Now I have the courage to ask You to help me continue our meetings for the remainder of my life.

{Sara Chernoff}

Prayer for Well being for those Recovering as Surviving from Cancer

By Rabbi Elliot Perlstein

אֱלֹהֵינוּ וְאֱלֹהֵי אֲבוֹתֵינוּ וְאִמּוֹתֵינוּ Our God and God of our ancestors

We are grateful for this day of greeting the spring, witnessing and participating in the rebirth of nature and feeling the joy of looking to tomorrow and many seasons to come.

We have felt the cloud that covers and consumes when we were stricken with this disease. We have all, in our own ways, gone through surgeries and difficult therapies and troubling times. We do not take reaching a new season for granted. We are thankful to again feel the rays of light and help.

Some of us are still in the midst of the fight. Others of us can provide hope since years have passed and we have regained a sense of health and vigor. We, in this special community, pray for each other's well being and know our prayers are joined by many others.

We pray for the courage and optimism and strength necessary to fight this disease. We pray for the ongoing commitment of those brilliant minds that daily search for treatments and cures. We are grateful for those doctors and nurses who have worked with us, who are God's instruments and have helped us to reach the season. We pray for our families who have shared the pain and have supported us through difficult times.

We pray to see another season, and another and another, none of which will ever be taken for granted. As these daffodils can be planted and will grow again each spring, so too, may we be blessed to welcome many spring times to come.

בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה יי אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם, שֶׁהַחַיִּים וְקִיּוּמָנוּ וְהַגִּיעָנוּ לְזֶמַּן הַזֶּה

Praised are you, Lord our God, Sovereign of the universe, who has blessed us with life, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this day. Amen.

A Message from the Education Director

Betsy Roth

While we read the portions of our Bible every week, our current lives and prospective shape how we interpret what we have ‘heard.’ I have such great pride when our own TBT students give their thoughtful D’var Torah (aka speech) at any given Bar/Bat Mitzvah. It is at this moment, when the words of the Torah become relevant and new.

At times, the details can be challenging. Leviticus with all its rules and regulations are often a chore to interpret, and digest. So why do we go through this process year after year? What significance does life in the Tent of the Meeting have for us today?

Exodus 28 is the chapter that is devoted to the ‘swag’ of the priests. At this time in the biblical narration is really talking about garb of Aaron, the brother of Moses. I have my own interpretation about why there is so much minutiae involved in any practice laid out in the Torah. It is simply about Kavanah, intent. When the Priests (or us) take all that time to be so careful and particular about any given act, then we approach it with intention.

While the garments of the Priests were worn on the outside, the deliberate intention of making and donning them affects their (and our) inner spirit.

I remember as a child how exciting and fun it was to go shopping for holiday clothing. Passover was always the highlighted time because the stores were filled with an array of colorful ‘Easter’ dresses for girls!! I couldn’t wait to go to Passover Services in my finest!

Recalling these shopping expeditions with my Mom causes me to ‘video’ replay these memories in my mind. Though, it wasn’t just about the material outcome, the dress. Aside from the quality time spend with my Mom, the memory of which now brings tears to my eyes, I can interpret the words of Exodus 28 and the role it played throughout my life. I remember with such clarity how special I felt on those days in my ‘special’ clothing.

Times and attitudes towards Temple attire have changed from when I was a kid. In raising my own two girls—at a time when it was a little more challenging to get them to go to shul—‘Neat, Clean, NO JEANS’ was the mantra.

For all kinds of reasons, I enjoy going to Services on an almost weekly basis. Getting up and out is always a race against being ‘late!’ Getting myself dressed I realize that I am doing what the Holy Priests did in ancient times and throughout the millennia since. Whether or not my ‘priestly garment’ of the day is considered suitable (taste is very personal), it was chosen to honor the Shabbat.

Entering the Sanctuary, my outer layer affects my inner thoughts. My clothing has begun the work of elevating them.. I am not wearing my usual ‘work week’ clothing. I look different. I feel different...Neat, Clean, NO JEANS!

Mazel Tov

Emily Huse and Jakob Huse welcome their second nephew to the world. Aiden James Anderson was born March 16th to their sister Holly and her husband, Brendon Anderson.

Mazel Tov to Mary & Jeff Horner on the birth of their second grandchild, Rowan Michael, on March 19th.

Our hearts go out to the Fried family. Susan lost her beloved father, Ed Doughty, March 18. Please join us in sending warm thoughts to Susan, Ken and their children at this time.

TBT's Sushi Social

Saturday, April 16th, 6pm

Hosted by TBT Sisterhood, and featuring Chef Kaimana Chee

Chef Kaimana Chee was born and raised in Hawaii, and has been featured on Food Network's MasterChef hosted by Gordon Ramsay. In 2012, he was selected as one of America's Top 100 Amateur Home Cooks, and in July 2015, won the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian's Iron Chef Cook-off.

TBT's Sushi Social is a special opportunity to learn the history of sushi, how to roll sushi, and be entertained by Chef Kaimana as we enjoy the sushi we've made!

This event is $50/person, but, thanks to the TBT Sisterhood, tickets are only $36/person for TBT Members!! (full price for non-members)

Ticket price includes Chef Kaimana's appearance and entertaining presentation, all ingredients for California Roll, Philly Roll, Spicy Tuna rolls, sushi-making instructions, and a glass of wine with dinner! All ingredients in this meal are kosher-style.

The TBT Board will host a 6pm pre sushi-making cocktail hour, with wine and beer for purchase.

Feel free to invite friends! After all, it is a SOCIAL!!
